

LISA SCHMIT'S IN THE ZONE

April 2018 Newsletter

Hi Everyone! Hope everyone is doing well. Trial season is starting up so I wanted to let you know about some upcoming events and classes.

Startline Tip:

I ONLY use a verbal command to release my dog. I do not want to release my dog on motion—any motion—my arm, my body, my feet. There are times when I have fallen; there are times when I swing my arms; there are times when I lead out and don't like where I lead out to so I move—so my dog needs to stay until I verbally release my dog. I am very cognizant that I do not verbally release and move simultaneously....as this will teach my dog to release on motion!! I only want my dogs to get up when verbally released.

Online Classes

TRAINING SUBSCRIPTION

In The Zone Agility Monthly Training Session

Do you need ideas of what to train? Do you need help coming up with training sequences? Do you need help deciding on how to handle courses?

Each month I will post some of my training sessions with my dogs. I will run the sequence and then break it down into skills.

Maybe a chance, regular or one of my own training sequences. I won't just post videos of my awesome dogs and runs :) I will post the actual training sessions with my dogs— including how I trouble shoot when I am having a hard time with a skill or sequence. So you can see how I handle training challenges!

Cost: $60 for 3 month subscription.
First Session: April through June

BIG DISTANCE

2 Big Distance Handling

Are you ready to take the next step and push for more distance? Are you ready to start trying distance challenges or bonus boxes?

Every month, I will post some of my big distance training sessions. I will break it down into skills and show you how I handle and train for it at a big distance.

I will post my bonus runs - successful and my not successful bonus attempts to discuss what I did wrong or really need to train. Going to be a great class if you want to increase your distance skills.

Cost: $60 for 3 month subscription.
